

The Rescuers – Breaking Me

Miller

Domestic abuse isn't nice, it's really mean it shouldn't happen twice.

There's five different types all including, physical, emotional, sexual too, financial, cyber, here's something new.

Taking pictures while the others not looking, hitting them with mallets, bats and hammers, using all their credit for hours and hours.

Adam

Giving them tasks that can't be completed, locking them in rooms when you go to a meeting.

Dragging them to shops and houses, never taking into consideration for your spouses.

Chorus

This is not a joke, this is not fun.

The battle against abuse will someday be won.

You're breaking me, you're breaking me

You're breaking my heart, you're breaking my bones

Harvey

I'm telling you mate, this isn't a joke. It's not funny if your wife is getting choked.

Stop telling them to kill themselves, it aint cool, one day she'll do it and the blame is on you.

If you're with someone take advice, don't be mean be super nice.

Don't be controlling, don't over power, or the police will be at your door in an hour.

James

You never know who it's happening to, until you see them covered in bruises coloured blue.

Looking out for early signs maybe taking consent or maybe they are trying to build a massive defence.

Chorus

Harvey

I'm telling you mate, this isn't a joke. It's not funny if your wife is getting choked.

Stop telling them to kill themselves, it aint cool, one day she'll do it and the blame is on you.

If you're with someone take advice, don't be mean be super nice.

Don't be controlling, don't over power, or the police will be at your door in an hour.
